GOVERNOR OFFICIALLY EXTENDS EMERGENCY ORDER TO APRIL 30:

With COVID-19 cases still rising in New Mexico, Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham on Monday extended her public health emergency order and announced the extension of related public health orders to encourage social distancing and preserve safety equipment for health care workers. Per the order, all guidance and advisories issued by the governor and secretary of health are in effect through at least April 30.

As in the original public health order, New Mexicans are instructed to stay at home except for emergency or essential outings, and non-essential businesses that had been ordered to close in-person operations must remain closed.

The amended order includes a new requirement that all retail operations that are considered essential businesses – including grocery stores – shall limit occupancy in their retail spaces. The maximum number of customers in the retail space must be equal to 20 percent or less of the maximum occupancy of the retail space, as determined by the relevant fire marshal or fire department.

If and when customers are waiting outside of a retail space, they must do so in compliance with social distancing protocols including the requirement that they maintain a distance of at least six-feet from other individuals and avoid person-to-person contact.

Read the full order HERE.

KUDOS TO OUR SBDC:

Kudos to the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at UNM-Gallup as the staff helps our small business community navigate the Payroll Protection Program and other resources outlined in the CARES Act. Many of our local families are small business owners, and we are proud to be a resource for helping to connect local businesses with much-needed funding resources and information.

Valuable information and resources—including COVID-19 Counseling and Training for small businesses—is now available at http://www.nmsbdc.org/.
ZOLLINGER LIBRARY RESOURCES:

The Zollinger Library continues to be a valuable resource as we continue the semester via remote instruction. The following resources are now available as a public service to university libraries.

Free access to HTML textbooks is available and offered direct to Higher Education institutions (first four links below).

UNM-Gallup Limited Operations Extended:

UNM-Gallup has extended our period of limited operations until further notice. We must follow the governor’s public health orders requiring that identified non-essential businesses and employees work remotely. Until those health orders are relaxed—or we receive further social distancing guidelines from the state—we will continue to operate under limited operations:

- All UNM-G physical facilities will be accessible by authorized Tier 1 personnel only until further notice.
- This excludes: 1) The general public; 2) Admitted and registered students; and 3) Tier 2 and Tier 3 employees.
- Our courses in progress will be conducted via remote instruction through the end of this semester.
- Mail continues to be sorted every Wednesday. Please contact Linda at lbegayne@unm.edu to schedule UNM official business only mail and financial aid checks.
