GOVERNOR’S THURSDAY COVID-19 UPDATE:

In today’s live update from the governor:

- 9,367 cases total, 121 new today
- 189 current hospitalizations; fewer people on ventilators
- McKinley County new cases yesterday at 50 – still highest in the state
- New Mexico is over baseline ICU capacity; PPE supply is doing well in hospitals
- Rate of spread is at 1.32, target is 1.15
- Cases are climbing in the U.S. Texas, Arizona, and California cases climbing. Arizona hospitals told to activate emergency plans. All these states opened faster and more broadly than New Mexico

The governor’s update was still in progress at the time of publishing our daily brief, so we’ll include additional updates—if important to our campus—tomorrow.

UNM-GALLUP MODIFIED FALL INSTRUCTIONAL CALENDAR:

In today’s academic dispatch, Provost Holloway released the UNM modified fall instructional calendar. UNM-Gallup will also adopt this calendar for our fall semester:

WILDFIRE SEASON IS UNDERWAY:

A quick reminder that wildfire season has started, and you’re encouraged to check conditions prior to traveling and camping within the state of New Mexico. Stay up to date on New Mexico fires by following @NMFireInfo on social media and by checking NMFire.com—which provides accurate information for the state.

CLASS OF 2020 CAP & GOWN DEADLINE

The deadline for our spring graduates to order their no-cost cap and gown is next Monday, June 15 at end-of-day. To request a cap and gown, graduates should please complete the linked request form and email it to textbookgallup@unm.edu. A sizing guide is also attached for reference.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES FOR SUMMER FACULTY DEVELOPMENT (REMINDER):

We have placed the following resources for summer faculty development on a webpage linked in the footer of our UNM-Gallup website labeled as “Faculty Online Teaching Resources” for your convenience. As a reminder, Dr. Shirley Heying is currently serving as our instructional designer for online course efforts. She is now available to faculty to help develop online courses as we begin the summer semester and work toward the fall.

- UNM Center for Teaching Excellence Workshops and Trainings (ongoing workshops offered via Zoom)
- Training for Developing Fall Online Courses
- Free Individualized UNM Learn Support Zoom Sessions
- How to Use Kaltura Capture (free audio-video software to record lectures, messages to students, instructions, etc.)
- Universal Design for Learning Guidelines

UNM-GALLUP LIMITED OPERATIONS CONTINUE (REMINDER):

We are continuing our period of limited operations until further notice with remote work and learning within our assigned employee tier system. Telecommuting remains our default for the majority of UNM-Gallup faculty, staff, and students. All summer courses remain online. And, meetings must take place remotely whenever possible. Campus buildings will remain locked with no public access. We have a few essential Tier 1 employees who will have access to facilities, but we will continue to limit access to campus facilities.
