NEW MEXICO COVID-SAFE PRACTICE PROMISE:
As our state reopens, the New Mexico Hospitality Association has created a website where all New Mexicans can take the COVID-Safe Practice pledge as well as review resources and information that keep us safe and on track while more of our businesses and state resources reopen. Visit the New Mexico Safe Promise website to take the pledge. It takes us all doing our part—wearing a face covering in public, washing our hands, and maintaining social distance—to keep New Mexico on its path to a phased and safe reopening.

GOVERNOR’S ADVISORY COUNCIL ON RACIAL JUSTICE:
The Governor’s Advisory Council for Racial Justice will be tasked with monitoring state institutions and holding them accountable for ending institutional racism and ensuring that all persons receive fair and equal treatment and opportunities. The Council’s work will be coordinated with community leaders already doing this essential work and will include state agency secretaries, law enforcement officers from across the state, and leaders and youth from the state’s communities of color.

All who are interested in serving on the Governor’s Advisory Council for Racial Justice—or would like to provide ideas for consideration—are welcome. Applications are due by June 19.

UNM FACULTY AND STUDENTS INTRODUCE COVID-19 WELLNESS PROGRAM:
A new project started by the UNM Department of Individual, Family, & Community Education will explore thoughts, ideas, and resources amid the COVID-19 pandemic. The project is called ‘Wellbeing at School and at Home in New Mexico’ and includes a bi-weekly publication that will focus on counseling, educational psychology, family and child studies, and nutrition. The first issue was published on June 3.

SUPREME COURT DELIVERS MAJOR VICTORY TO LGBTQ EMPLOYEES:
As we celebrate Pride Month, The U.S. Supreme Court ruled today—in a momentous decision—that the 1964 Civil Rights Act barring sex discrimination in the workplace protects LGBTQ employees from being fired because of their sexual orientation. The vote was 6-3 with conservatives Chief Justice John Roberts and Neil Gorsuch joining the court’s four liberal justices in the majority.

NATIVE BUSINESS RESILIENCE SEMINAR:
Next Monday, June 22, you can join in on a Webinar titled, “Tapping into Native Business Resilience—Moving Forward.” The Webinar will start at 2:00 p.m. on Zoom. You can view more information and register through the UNM Rainforest Innovations event link.
UNM-GALLUP LIMITED OPERATIONS CONTINUE (REMINDER):

We are continuing our period of limited operations until further notice with remote work and learning within our assigned employee tier system. Telecommuting remains our default for the majority of UNM-Gallup faculty, staff, and students. All summer courses remain online. And, meetings must take place remotely whenever possible. Campus buildings will remain locked with no public access. We have a few essential Tier 1 employees who will have access to facilities, but we will continue to limit access to campus facilities.
