UPDATED NEW MEXICO COVID-19 CASES:

In new numbers released yesterday afternoon, COVID-19 cases continue to increase in New Mexico. We are now at 10,694 with 128 additional cases reported yesterday. Of those, 32 new cases were from McKinley County, representing the highest number of new cases in the state.

The Navajo Nation is reporting a total of 7,045 positive cases; 3,716 recovered individuals; and 49,444 individuals tested. Yesterday, there were 55 new cases with no new deaths related to COVID-19. Good news there, for sure!

GOVERNOR ISSUES STATEMENT UPON ADJOURNMENT:

As the special session of the New Mexico legislature adjourned yesterday, the governor issued a statement:

“"I look forward to thoroughly evaluating the amended state budget and the additional legislation now headed to my desk in the coming weeks. In January and beyond we will build upon this productive session of the Legislature. I want New Mexicans to know: We have heard you, and this state will invest in you and deliver for you throughout this crisis, throughout the recovery process and into the bright future we will build together on the other side."

You can read the full statement on the governor’s webpage.

UNM-GALLUP POSTS FIRST DIVERSITY SERIES ARTICLE:

In our first in a series of articles addressing issues and topics surrounding diversity on our campus, we examine opportunities and challenges for American Indian Students entering STEM disciplines. Our UNM-Gallup diversity series—which was previously scheduled as a summit to be held on campus this past April—will be built out over the coming months in a virtual format to keep these important conversations on diversity issues front and center to improve our understanding and the actions we can take to ensure an inclusive UNM-Gallup campus for all.

In our first article posted today, we interview esteemed engineer and UNM alum Sandra Begay from Sandia National Laboratories. We invite you to read her interview and join the discussion!
UPDATE FROM THE ZOLLINGER LIBRARY (REMINDER):

Plans are underway to commence curbside pickup of printed materials from the Zollinger Library and for Wi-Fi hotspots (12), as they are available. The service will be available to UNM constituents only. Tentatively, the service will begin in early July and continue until further notice.

Requests will be handled through an online request form located on the library website. Pickup will be available two days per week between 10AM and 2PM (week days to be determined). Pickup instructions will be included in the process prior to reaching the online request form and will be strictly followed to ensure safety of library staff and users.

UNM-GALLUP LIMITED OPERATIONS CONTINUE (REMINDER):

We are continuing our period of limited operations until further notice with remote work and learning within our assigned employee tier system. Telecommuting remains our default for the majority of UNM-Gallup faculty, staff, and students. All summer courses remain online. And, meetings must take place remotely whenever possible. Campus buildings will remain locked with no public access. We have a few essential Tier 1 employees who will have access to facilities, but we will continue to limit access to campus facilities.
