NAVAJO NATION ISSUES TRAVEL ADVISORY:

A travel advisory and COVID update released yesterday from Navajo Nation President Jonathan Nez:

"The Navajo Nation’s travel advisory for off-Nation travel remains in effect for all residents, so everyone is expected to adhere to it. Staying home, wearing a face mask, cleaning and disinfecting, and avoiding large gatherings has helped minimize the spread of coronavirus in the Navajo Nation. The number of positive cases is decreasing, and there are more recoveries each day, and it gives us hope that we are safer and alert. Let’s continue to practice all preventative measures and don’t back down from the fight against COVID-19.”
