TOWN HALL FOR REOPENING NEW MEXICO BUSINESSES:

In case you missed today’s town hall on “Resources for Reopening New Mexico Businesses” from the New Mexico Departments of Workforce Solutions and Economic Development and the NMSBDC, we’ve posted the recorded town hall and the PDF presentation for your convenience. Great information for businesses in this presentation on how to reopen safely for workers and customers.

LOBO ACADEMY BEGINS MONDAY:

A reminder that our fantastic Lobo Academy begins next Monday—and we encourage our new students enrolled for the fall semester to apply and register at their earliest convenience. We’re also advertising this program on our UNM-Gallup social media pages and Website. Please share this information with a student who would benefit from the Lobo Academy. They’re encouraged to apply this week.
A MESSAGE FROM PROVOST HOLLOWAY:

An excerpt from Provost James Holloway’s Academic Dispatch important for our consideration:

“June 10th has been offered as a time for academic STEM scholars to repurpose their time – a day to organize or attend a protest, a time to discuss specific actions that will support black scientists, a time to educate ourselves about the history of violence towards people of color and anti-Black brutality. One day will not change our culture – for it is our own way of thinking and behaving that we must change – so June 10th is also offered as a day to plan for the long-term and sustained action that is needed to support Black lives, students, and scholars in academia...

...Some of our colleagues at UNM are thinking and planning for these challenges, and about how to task themselves for tomorrow. Of course, we are not together but are socially distanced, mostly connected only through the tether of the internet. But we can still unite and look for the needed changes in ourselves and the systems we collectively make. Call a colleague, come together in Zoom, learn more, but then determine to act...

...To get you started, the Division of Equity and Inclusion has created a reading list on Becoming a Diversity Advocate in the Classroom, Labs and by promoting the hiring of Black, Native, Latinx, and women faculty in STEM and other fields. I’ll add a couple books for consideration: Black STEM USA: America’s Next Civil Rights Movement by C. M. Williams and Sharon Ewell Foster; and Making Black Scientists: A Call to Action by Marybeth Gasman and Thai-Huy Nguyen...

...Tomorrow does not have to be like today. But it will be different only if each of us is different.”

UNM-GALLUP LIMITED OPERATIONS CONTINUE (REMINDER):

We are continuing our period of limited operations until further notice with remote work and learning within our assigned employee tier system. Telecommuting remains our default for the majority of UNM-Gallup faculty, staff, and students. All summer courses remain online. And, meetings must take place remotely whenever possible. Campus buildings will remain locked with no public access. We have a few essential Tier 1 employees who will have access to facilities, but we will continue to limit access to campus facilities.
